

Our Father

...a person who has originated or established something: the father of modern psychology; the founding fathers.

I found our Father after some months of meditation and soul searching. One morning, after just 10 minutes of meditation, it just came to me that there is a flame inside of me made of white light and I am sitting inside of it in the lotus position. That had to be one of my most glorious mornings ever. I felt as if I found the golden key to everything. Then the realizations just kept pouring in. I then realized that the flame is always with me; no matter what I do or say my flame is always there completely aware of me and contemplating me. It is totally aware of me and every single little thing that surrounds me. It is constantly focusing on me. How radically cool is that? Then it came to me that everyone has the same flame and their flames are occupied with themselves sitting in a lotus position contemplating them. Wait a second? If we all have a white flame with each of us in it then what is the flame? That's when it hit me! It didn't hit me like a rock or a punch but like I was completely naked to the universe and I liked it.

The flame is our father. Identical in each of us and we are the inhabitants of the light. The light is there to experience our experiences and live our lives with us. "I and my father are one, yet my Father is greater"! The light is what everything is created from and we are exactly the same; not just the people but animals, sofa, trees, planets, galaxies; all of us. The light is all there is and that light is waiting for us to notice it. What happened after I became aware it exists? I asked it for something and it repeated what I said, in my voice. Before this experience I could not for the life of me properly visualize. Conjuring up the image of what I wanted in my mind required great effort until I found him, Our Father. Now I picture myself speaking to the flame inside of me when in meditation and it immediately places me inside of itself and it then becomes whatever and wherever I want to be. And, I know it will come to pass. You see, everything is the light and that includes time and events that are going to happen and that could happen. That is why everything is possible to the light; from the greatest good to the greatest evil. It has all happened already and not happened depending on our wishes. The light is our father and it will provide what we ask for. So, be very careful what you ask for and begin to control your thoughts. Begin to meditate and focus your mind on good and the good you want in your life. For example; I've asked that there be no car accidents. Does that mean there won't be car accidents ever again? NO! It means that I will never be in a car accident and that I will not be a witness to any. Our Father and I have agreed that it does not help us achieve our goals of happiness, peace and bliss.

The Father, Our Father, God or the Universe; however you want to refer to this light is completely up to you. I know like I know that this white flame is within you and I and it combines us into one being. Our Father! We are the Father, God, Jesus, Krishna, Buddha, Mohammed, Ala and Jehovah. There are all one and they are all within us this very moment. And we are all seeking expression every second of every minute and we express through creation. I have no choice but to write these letters, I have to let it out because I feel no other way will express what I know and feel. This is just one of my creations and I will probably never stop. I'm not a professor or a scholar so my teachings will come forth in the form of descriptive experience, not lessons. But if this helps even one person out there feel the light, then it is worth its weight in Gold. I truly hope this can answer some questions and clear up anything you needed clearing up. If not then ask me and I will reply as soon as I believe I have an answer. I am a student as well and will remain a student until I am enlightened. For now I'm still learning. I can't yet manifest anything I desire in super duper time but I have manifested some things; but the most valuable thing that I've manifested is an unbelievable feeling of Joy and Gratefulness whenever I need it. If I'm thinking about something I shouldn't and I'm listening to music I pretend my father sitting in the lotus position in my white flame is bobbing his head; that usually cracks me up and breaks up any negative thought I was having. I know the experiences I wish to have are mine and will take whatever time Our father needs to make it manifest. Maybe it could have manifested already but I haven't taken the action required. I truly believe that we have to, "go about our fathers business", in order for anything to manifest. Nothing is going to fall in our laps if all we do is meditate and expect things to fall into our laps. We must experience day to day and move towards our goals. One thing I cannot say enough is that it will happen and when it does it will be so natural and fluid that you might not even notice until after the fact. Keep affirming your faith and the more you will begin to realize how much our Father does for us day in day out. Most of the time street lights turn green for me immediately and sometimes within a minute, but never do I get to the light and it just turns red. It just doesn't happen anymore and I say Thank You every time! Our Father is there and it guides our every move. It clothes us, feeds us, and keeps us warm and safe. I guarantee it. How many times have you thought, "I missed that bullet by the skin of my teeth"? That wasn't by chance, because there is no chance, it was by Grace.

Our Father loves joy and every good feeling. I realize that every time I'm in a good mood or are thinking good thoughts things go a lot smoother. Also, the more I think about how some event or thing will manifest the less chance there is of it happening. One of my greatest hurdles is stopping me from wondering how something is going to take place. The few things I did manifest intentionally manifested in such an amazing smooth way that I could never have thought it possible. But it happened and I am completely convinced. Another thing I noticed is that all the manifestations happened in laughter or good spirit; even when I gave my boss my resignation letter. He laughed as I handed it to him and said, 'there's a template of this on our network'? We laughed and I handed it to him like it was a tissue paper. It went so smooth that I felt like a puppet on strings and I was pulling the strings. Every time I think how I went through life without this knowledge I realize that I was sleeping and that I have just awakened. I laugh so much more everyday and feel great. Whenever a negative thought comes into my mind I just dismiss it like a wave of a hand. That Barabbas has been released and I am in the process of crucifixion and will resurrect a completely different person very soon. Thank you and always remember, Thank Yourself!
