

Polarity

“...The property or characteristic that produces unequal physical effects at different points in a body or system, as a magnet or storage battery”.

I discovered the missing part of me during a very disappointing time in my life; that's usually how it happens by the way. When things you believe you want withdraw from you is when you realize the power of polarity you possess. Some people say things like, “That's my luck” & “That's how the cookie crumbles”. That is a signal that you know there is a polarity about you but you don't know how powerful it is. Well, not only is there a polarity to your thoughts and actions but there is a level of power behind it that is immeasurable. So, don't try to measure it. The number to it does not exist. Measure yourself!

Back to the missing part; we all are aware that there is a greater power or there is a lack of a greater power in our world. These feelings are your interpretation of yourself. Can you dig that? Are you getting this? The only thing in this world that will determine your path, destiny, life, whatever, is the person in your mirror. Take a moment to reflect on that now and honestly answer it. If you didn't take the moment then do it later.

If you don't believe what I wrote that's ok. You're reading this because there is truth to what I'm expressing or you would have closed the page by now. My delivery style is going to be different than most other teachers because I believe you are here to get the facts and get my opinions in the most direct fashion possible. Not ironically, the world works that way to. The things that happen most naturally are usually the best rooted. When children start walking; a week after they're running around you can't remember how it was when all they did was crawl. That is a natural process even if medical aid was required and you at this moment cannot remember your mindset from when they weren't walking. Go ahead, try it. You can't, because you allowed that part of you to die gracefully and you have continued on to live a different and better mindset. You allowed that in and you attracted it. As you read this you are waking up to a whole new universe. Where there are no lines or traffic, your ID let's you into every single club and bar, your face is on every poster board in Times Square and everyone; absolutely everyone is MADLY in love with you. As you approach the awakening you will feel and see it. Welcome aboard! Now, be grateful; be very, very grateful. Be grateful for everything around you, even those that you consider or once considered your enemy. They played there part to the letter and are servants of The Father and you. They were and are there to display everything that is not in resonance within you. Thank them for teaching you, everything that is wrong with them is wrong within you. What I am trying to get across is that you are a tuning fork that resonates frequencies of polarity that will either ATTRACT what you want to EXPERIENCE or REPEL it.

Go back over the instances in this letter that ask you to take a moment, and then answer the questions. Thank you and remember, Thank yourself!

Johnny Gautam 10-05-2007